Speedspiker Saves Time in Golf Shoe Repair

Bill Corbett, pro at Castlewood CC, Pleasanton, Calif., has invented a shoe spiking wrench called the "Speedspiker" that is said to save a great deal of time in replacing golf shoe spikes. It is recommended for the pro or lockerroom attendant. The wrench is inserted in the chuck of a portable drill for backing out spikes or for inserting them. Spikes that are rusted into shoes are removed much easier with the drill than by the old hand-wrench method. Two well known golf merchandisers are handling distribution of Speedspiker. They are Curley Bates on the West Coast and Bowen, Inc. throughout the rest of the U. S. and Canada.
