First Flight's

MILLION DOLLAR HOLE-IN-ONE CLUB

Here's how

Gary Player and Doug Sanders, two of the leading money winners on the PGA tour, say:

"The 1961 improved First Flight Patented Steel Power Center Golf Balls, combined with the scientifically designed First Flight Registered Clubs, have helped us gain top positions in money winnings and we highly recommend them to all our golfing friends.

"First Flight balls and clubs are sold only in Pro Shops. They will help you, too—ask your Pro about them."

1. Before you tee off, buy one (or more) First Flight Steel Power Center Golf Balls from the Pro Shop and register on the Million Dollar Hole-in-One forms provided.

2. If you then make a hole-in-one that day with the First Flight ball while playing in a threesome or more, you get your choice of $150.00 worth of any merchandise you select from the Pro Shop of that course.

3. The hole-in-one must occur during a regular 9-hole or 18-hole round of golf on a qualified regulation golf course. Saucer- or bowl-shaped greens, or other devices to produce more than normal expectation of making a hole-in-one, are disqualified as are 9-hole courses with more than three par 3 holes or 18-hole courses with more than six par 3 holes. First Flight reserves the right to cancel this event by published notice as regards any specific course.

4. The scorecard must be attested in writing by the others playing with you when you make the ace and certified by the Host Club Professional and backed by newspaper clippings or other evidence. Claims must be submitted through the Club Professional within seven days. The Club Professional will be compensated by First Flight Company by $150.00 for the cost of the prize merchandise selected by the winner from any merchandise in the Pro Shop.
