Robert Bontempo, son of Henry, pro at Franconia, Springfield, Mass., munny course, recently graduated from University of Carolina and joined his father in Florida fishing and golf vacation before going into military service. . . . Charles Mayo, who retired four years ago as pro at Hackensack GC, Bergenfield, N.J., and now is an honorary member of the club, recalled at the PGA Seniors that when he was pres. of the Metropolitan PGA in 1927 and 1928, the section had a winter school for assts. with the late Jack Mackie conducting the program.

Gordon Brinkworth, supt., Illahe Hills CC, Salem, Ore., says nobody will starve playing the course . . . Bordering fairways are trees of filberts, walnuts, cherries, pears, apples, apricots.

Dick Wilson building 18 on Great Bahama for Charles Allen and associates . . . Wilson also has designed 18 for Duncan Milner on Great Abaco island in the Bahamas . . . Building started on 27 holes for Jackson (Miss.) CC to Wilson design . . . May 1, Riviera CC, Coral Gables, Fla., starts remodelling course to Wilson plan.

Notice how "islands" of trees in fairways are coming back into favor although such architecture never got out of favor with those who really know golf course design . . . Good thing there weren't green committees at Pebble Beach or Cypress Point to take out trees on the 18th fairways of those courses and destroy distinctive features . . . Joe Finger, a competent architect himself, says Architect Ralph Plummer's design of the par 5 13th at the Champions' course of Jimmy Demaret and Jackie Burke at Houston makes admirable use of an island of trees splitting the fairway, a deep creek on the right and a swale before the green . . . Again, we observe that guys running bulldozers have destroyed growth and contours that would have made great golf holes out of some that are ordinary and dull.

Greenlawn Produces Two Aerator Models

Greenlawn Aerators, Inc., Greenville, Pa., produces two aerator models that have great mobility. The PL-TW (in photo) is designed for use with a light tractor such as the Jacobson Chief. Its 320 lbs. can be increased to 520 by filling the ballast tanks, giving a three-inch penetration of tines regardless of soil conditions. The T-18-TW has 28 tines mounted on two water ballast drums and is capable of penetrating to a depth of 2½ inches. It weighs 155 lbs. empty and 350 with ballast. T-18-TW is designed for use with a 5 to 7 hp tractor and has an overall width of 38 inches. Both models are readily transportable.

Barton Mon-O-Gramer Pro Shop Ball Personalizing Machine

Barton Industries, 620 West Ave., Elyria, O., now is making deliveries on its new model IIO Mon-O-Gramer golf ball personalizing machine. It was one of the big attractions at the February PGA merchandise show. According to Lloyd (Red) Barton, company pres., whose background covers 32 years in golf ball producing and merchandising, the precision machine was developed to imprint names of individuals, clubs, etc., on golf balls quickly by means of thermostatically controlled heated type through pigmented marking tape in choice of four colors. The machine with 17 letter capacity, handles one to 100 doz. balls without painting, cleaning or drying. A locating cup and holder insure positive, uniform imprinting and placement. The set includes 77 pieces of engraved type. Literature and price information can be obtained from Barton Industries.

Magnesium Inset-Plastic Head in Brad-Flo Wood

A die-cast magnesium unit with face insert, sole plate, hosel and weight receptacle encased in a head moulded of U.S. Rubber Co. Kralastic constitutes the new Brad-Flo "wood" head made by Brad-Flo, Inc., 1603 Cleburne St., Houston, 4, Tex., and is distributed by Bradley-Burke Golf Co. Jackson Bradley, pro at River Oaks CC, Houston, worked out the design and construction of the club which was approved by pros at the Texas PGA spring meeting and at the PGA Seniors. The "Hammer Force" idea is said to center the impact on the ball. An ingenious swing-weight adjustment that conforms to USGA rules, and availability of the head in any shaft, make the club one that can be well fitted to the player.
