Shamrock Power Pocket®

The biggest breakthrough in iron manufacture since Bobby Jones added the flange to his irons in 1930!

No catch to our sole.

Shamrock clubs have a dynamically sound, streamlined sole with no trailing edge. This diminishes the chances of catching the club head in the grass at the start of your backswing.

Custom Woods

Shamrock manufactures custom hand crafted woods to make your set complete in your choice of persimmon or laminated heads.

Lady Shamrock

You'll find the same advantages are yours when you use our Shamrock Power Pocket clubs which have been especially designed for ladies.

Interested?

Ask your pro to show you the Shamrock line of distinctive clubs. Prototype models of this club have been course tested by professional and amateur golfers for two years. Our clubs cost a little more... about $25 more than you'd pay for a conventional set of premium pro line clubs. We make the best for people who want the best.

The secret is out!

Manufacturers have been forced to put lead in the shaft of your golf clubs to adjust swing weight. Not in the head where it should be, but an expedient "shaft down" filling that adds to the overall weight of your club.

Shamrock Power Pocket® puts the weight where it belongs... in the club head... allowing a smoother swing, increased elevation, a club with a power-laden "sweet spot."

We got the lead out.

It took us a couple of years, but we've designed all new Shamrock golf clubs with a special Power Pocket in each club head. It's a slot in the club head where the designated weight is inserted at the final stage of manufacture, providing a customized swing weight for the individual golfer. NO weight added to the shaft or grip of your club... each club in your entire set has the same swing weight.

A pretty swinger!

The various features of the Shamrock club join in a smooth, finely balanced look of a precision instrument. The investment cast club heads have a deep satin finish with a distinctive green shamrock and large easy-to-read numbers.

Getting it up... higher, faster and longer.

Shamrock's low center of gravity makes the ball fly higher and further with the same easy swing... which is what everyone wants in an iron. If you have difficulty hitting long irons, you'll find that Shamrock long irons give you a high shot, very much like a 5 wood but with the straighter line of an iron.

Cuts through rough and sand.

An amazing feature is the design of the hosel. It has been thinned to almost knife-edge width just above the sole of the club. This "razor action" (you'll believe it when you try it) cuts through grass and sand cleanly. With our hosel design, shanks are mostly for memories.

Now—a new stainless steel shaft to complete our bag for '75.

Many new investment cast irons bowed in '74. The Keller 211 among them. Of all these new brands, ours led the way in sales. With no claims of "forgiving" a chili-dip or a banana ball. We simply put our chips on the talents of noted designer Phil Skovronski. And on quality.

A lightweight stainless steel shaft.

"Technological breakthrough" is a term we use with respect. Our stainless shaft is 10% lighter than ordinary steel. Yet, it's stronger. This light weight is achieved without reduction in wall thickness. That's truly a breakthrough. The result—lighter overall club weight. An obvious plus in producing greater clubhead speed. (The new stainless steel shaft is an optional extra in both Keller irons and woods.)

A stainless shaft tested in play and in the lab.

Reports on our new shaft have been super. "It feels stronger and plays stronger..." "The new step pattern gives an explosive action through impact."

Flex, recovery and torque resistance are the same in each shaft. Independent laboratory tests proved this uniformity. Unlike chrome plated steel, our stainless shaft resists corrosion and metal fatigue inside and out. It will keep its strength and bright finish for years.

Two new Keller irons.

The Keller iron is now available in two no-offset models. Shaft-in-hosel and shaft-over-hosel. Rounded sole and back make our iron easier to maneuver. The sweetspot is further out from the heel. Expands the effective hitting area. And reduces vibration on those queasy off-center shots. Lower center of gravity helps get the ball up faster.

Premium quality persimmon woods.

We buy domestic persimmon only. The very finest grows in Arkansas and Mississippi. That's where we get ours. We're using this beautifully grained persimmon in our Keller heel-and-toe-weighted woods. Combine this with our stainless steel shaft for one of the best sets of woods money can buy. (Our premium persimmon costs a little more. But it's well worth it.)

Fansteel for graphite shafts.

Our first and only choice in graphite shafts is Fansteel. Their quality control is compatible with the high standards we've set for ourselves. The tapering of the Fansteel shaft is consistent. And the tip is firm. No torque or buggy whip feeling here. Recovery is on target every time. We're pleased to have Fansteel in our bag of fine golf equipment for '75.
