

the Sunol Valley Golf and Country Club.

Discussions at the meeting pointed to the fact professionals had kept the service aspect of their job a secret for too long and some sort of promotion was needed to show this to club officials, owners and the golfing public.

Heavy emphasis was placed on the fact that pros should become more involved in the promotion of amateur and especially junior golf. Through clinics, pros in the section will attempt to turn the juniors into more accomplished players. Pros were even encouraged to get involved in the USGA Associate Program.

Expanded charity tournament schedule to aid Musser Fund

Greater impetus in the concept of raising funds for advanced turf-grass students was discussed during a recent annual meeting of the Musser Foundation in Minneapolis.

William L. Burdick, Canterbury Golf Club, Cleveland, described the plan to the board of directors of the foundation. Burdick, reporting for D. Frank Dobie, Musser Golf Tournament Director, said the plan involves a means of inviting players to participate in the annual tournaments on some of the nation's leading private courses and to do so without payment of green fees. The plan would be circulated to golf courses across the nation following approval by the board of directors.

Two new appointments to the board were ratified. They are: Burdick and Mr. W. Leonard Goldson, representing the Green Section of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, Ontario.

The 1976 Contribution of MITF to a research fellowship will be made to Dr. Harry Niemczyk, Ohio State University, for support of a Ph.D. candidate, studying control of the Dung Beetle. Other funding agencies involved in that research will be the GCSAA and the Cleveland District Golf Association.

Here's the machine that turns one man into a whole crew.

There are a couple of ways to get your greens trimmed just right in a short time.

You can send out a crew with a bunch of hand mowers.

Or you can send out only one man and a Jacobsen Greens King and cut 18 greens in about four short hours.

Your Jacobsen Distributors, like Fuller Tresca, Tresca Industries, Inc. in Jacksonville, Florida, can give you some pretty interesting facts about the machine that does it all.

We'll show you how easily the driver can move levers on the control panel so the mowing units can go to work either singly, or in any combination.

We'll not only show you the comfortable seat, we'll let you sit in it and adjust it to your own body. (This lets the driver concentrate on the greens instead of his back.)

When you hear the engine, you'll wonder how 14 horsepower can be so quiet.

Other facts. The transmission has four speeds. Three forward and one reverse. And the specially designed steering wheel makes a piece of cake out of tight turns.

Of course, we always have parts in stock. And trained mechanics on staff if you need them.

Better check out the Greens King with your Jacobsen Distributor. It will work hard and fast to give you smooth and beautiful greens. Which will make you feel good.

And a crew of only one will make you feel even better.

Your Jacobsen Distributors.

Great products deserve great service.
