THE PRESIDENTS MESSAGE

Have you ever been proud of yourself? Have you accomplished a job and it turned out better than anticipated? At any rate I believe we all have a certain amount of egotism in us. This is good, because without it, it would become quite a hassle to be a success at this profession. You have to make a believer out of the people that are directly involved with the golf course superintendent. This is where your ego is involved. Be a proud man and let people know about it.

With this last issue of the season, I would like to express my gratitude to many people involved in the WGCSA. Mr. Dan Quast, who put many hours in this news letter and made it become a success, certainly can be proud of himself. The committees that were appointed did a marvelous job throughout the season. Jim Belfield and his golf committee have a good thing going on the handicaps, which took a lot of work to get together. Howie Olson who spent many hours organizing our dinner dance. Wayne Otto and his educational committee, organized and got together a group of speakers that were of great importance to our meetings.

All in all, I believe the organization has rolled along relatively smooth throughout the season. This could only
