

OLYMPIC HILLS, A HERCULEAN TEST!

Olympic Hills is a tough track anytime, but when the wind roars twenty miles per hour from the northwest and the day is cold and overcast, it is a course only for the most brave of heart. Only one man broke 80 - the defending and still champion, Leif Erickson of Austin Country Club. He was closely followed by Mike Klatte with an 81. Other winners are detailed under the various photos. It was a day for rosy cheeks, hot toddies and small lies about this shot or that. It was a day full of warm fellowship, good food and pleasant memories. Many thanks to Host Superintendent Orland Maenke for all his perfect arrangements. At the business meeting the membership voted to donate $200.00 and personal supervision to help landscape the new Evans Scholars House now near completion on the University of Minnesota campus. Complete details and pictures will follow in the next issue.
