

MEET YOUR SUPERINTENDENTS !

CARLOS STIMSON is one of the most dedicated and active members in the M.G.C.S.A. Although living and working almost 250 miles from the metropolitan Twin Cities area, Carlos always attends the Annual Turf Conference and the Annual Golf Tournament as well as several regular monthly meetings throughout the year. Carlos has been employed as the Golf Superintendent at the Brookings Country Club in Brookings, South Dakota for the past five seasons. Originally from Owatonna, he has also worked at the Wadena and Alexandria Golf clubs and received his formal education in turf from the U of M at Waseca. Carlos claims the South Dakota climate makes his turf less disease prone, but the dry and windy conditions make irrigation control extremely important. He and his wife, Jean, have some added action recently around the house in four month old Chris, while cross-country skiing and woodworking are some of Carlos' favorite activities away from the course.
