

to a good start with many seminars that were provided for members, and General Charles E. "Chuck" Yeager provided an entertaining keynote speech on aircraft and his experiences. As the week progressed the amount of expertise and knowledge offered by the researchers, the suppliers, and our fellow superintendents was overwhelming in each of the sessions. The equipment show was truly the largest ever assembled for GCSAA, and new innovative ideas are becoming reality as our turf industry manufacturers strive to provide us with the products we tell them we need. For new members of GCSAA attending a conference of this magnitude must be overwhelming, but for those of us that have attended many nationals, I feel it reassures the inner feeling that we are part of a truly great industry and the GCSAA.

Our executive board of MGCSA was able to receive some noteworthy recognition by personally presenting checks earmarked for research to fine research projects being conducted by the USGA, GCSAA, and the Musser Foundation. This personal touch made the donations more meaningful and was exceptionally gratifying.

Even though another national conference has ended, our MGCSA board continues to push forward into the new year scheduling meetings intended to instruct, inform, and to be enjoyed by all our members. Look for the flyers as they arrive monthly, fill them out, and return the pre-registration forms as soon as possible to make the Arrangements Chairman's job that much easier.

I have received a good number of responses to my request for articles to publish in our HOLE NOTES newsletter. I wish to thank those individuals for taking the time to write and share their ideas. To the rest of our silent membership, I will continue to pry the vast knowledge you as superintendents harbor in your minds out for our fellow members to learn from and experience your accomplishments.
