

EDITOR'S CORNER

By Bill Johnson
Edina Country Club

As this summer season begins to wind down, and demands on those in our profession aren't quite as pressing, it's a good time to review what we've accomplished on our golf courses and to begin planning for what lies ahead.

Similarly, it's a good time to reflect on what's transpired with Hole Notes since the first of the year and to chart our publication's course for the future.

I'm happy to report that the August issue finished "in the black"—thanks to excellent advertising support from so many companies. Looking ahead, we want to continue delivering an informative, newsy, attractive product that captures the attention of our readers and merits these advertising investments.

The "new look" of Hole Notes, as well as its varied content and expanded coverage, have drawn considerable (and favorable) comment. But we're not going to rest on our laurels; rather, we want to make a good thing better.

We also appreciate the growing number of superintendents who are contributing articles, photos and suggestions. We'd like to have one of these in each issue.

An excellent example of this continuing cooperation is Dale Wysocki, head superintendent at Faribault Golf & Country Club. In this space we've thanked him previously for his photographic coverage of our monthly meetings, golf outings and special events—like his photos at our Northfield meeting (see page 19) and the 1990 Championship at Hazeltine (see page 10). In this issue he also has submitted a timely story and photos describing his experience with underground storage tanks and accompanying problems at Faribault (see pages 12-13). Thanks, Dale.

Congratulations to John Katterheinrich, the Minikahda superintendent who won the 1990 Championship at Hazeltine (see page 10), and to Kevin Clunis, who really has accomplished a lot in advance for our annual Conference to be held November 28-30 at the Northland Inn. For a preview of the excellent program coming up, please turn to page 5.

Pre-registration forms are scheduled to be mailed later this month. Begin making plans now to attend these excellent sessions.
