I'm Probably Wrong But...

It seems to me that since most Superintendents in this area are spending between $10,000 and $40,000 on chemicals, seed, fertilizer, petroleum products etc., that they would certainly shop around for the best price available. The best way to do this would be to list your total expected purchases for the coming year and give lists to all turf and turf-related companies and let them put a bid on these materials. These written bids are not only valuable for your records but can show your employers that you are doing a professional job.

In addition to these secondary reasons you may actually be shocked at some price differences.
