

Photo By Joe Gambatese
 Three Golf Course Superintendents who are members of the Golf Collectors Society visited with Joseph S. F. Murdoch of Lafayette Hill, Pa., founder and leader of the Society at its recent annual meeting in Alexandria, Va. Left to right, Lee C. Dieter, Superintendent at Washington G. & C.C.; Charles H. Tadge of South Euclid, Ohio, Past President of the Golf Course Superintendents Association Of America, and Melvin B. Lucas, Jr. current president.

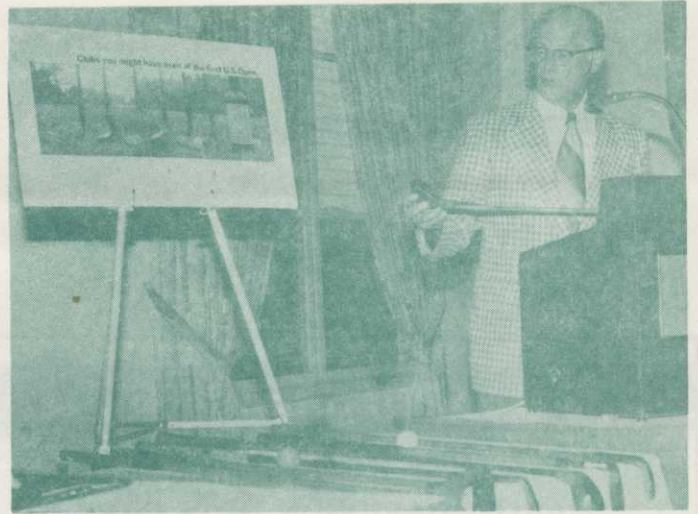

Photo by Joe Gambatese
 Victor Vaughn, President of the Golf Collectors Society, speaks to the Mid-Atlantic A. Of G.C.S. at their July meeting at Columbia C.C.

Photo By Joe Gambatese
 Bob Orazi, chairman of the second annual Mid-Atlantic Turfgrass Boosters tournament at Baltimore C. C.'s Five Farms course, presents the Mid-Atlantic Association of Golf Course Superintendents Trophy to the low gross winner from Maryland Golf & C. C. They scored 138 for the two best-balls of the foursome. From left are Maynard Morrison, golf chairman; Ron Hall, golf course superintendent and president of the Mid-Atlantic Association; Paul Haviland, golf professional; Larry Delcios, club president, and Orazi, superintendent at Hunt Valley G. C.

Photo by Joe Gambatese
 Dr. Fred V. Grau, president of The Musser International Turfgrass Foundation, presents the Grau Trophy to the University of Maryland Golf Course team which won the second annual Mid-Atlantic Turfgrass Boosters tournament at Baltimore C. C.'s Five Farms course with a low net score of 122 for the two best-balls of the foursome.

Left to right: Mike Camp, Lou Strieter, Dr. Grau, Tom Roberts and Frank Sanzaro. All are members of the U. of Maryland Golf Club. Proceeds were shared by the Maryland Turfgrass Council and the Musser Foundation, which supports graduate research in turfgrass development and management. Next year's tournament will be held at Congressional.