Hog Neck Golf Course Profile and Superintendent Profile

Scott Reeside has been golf course superintendent at Hog Neck Golf Course since October of 2003. He currently lives on the course with his wife Amy. They have two boys Noah (5 years old) and Tristan (2 years old) and his goose chasing golden retriever Zoysia. He has been a class A superintendent for 7 years and has been working on numerous golf course for 17 years. He is a graduate of the turf program from Penn State and has relocated back to the area in which he grew up. He enjoys golfing, fishing, and family.

Hog Neck is a Talbot County owned 27 hole course and plays over 7000 yards from the tips and has numerous lakes and creeks that come into play. The greens were recently rebuilt on the Championship course to U.S.G.A specs and grassed with L93 bent. The fairways are ryegrass and the course has 73 sand bunkers. The course is designed by Lindsay Irvin and opened for play in 1976.
