Louisville, February 4-8, 1930

President John Morley of the National Association and Fred A. Burkhardt, Chairman of the Show Committee, recently took a trip to Louisville in the interests of the 1930 National Convention and Golf Show which will be held there, February 4-8 next year. They were met by George Davies, member of the executive committee and Harry G. Evans, Secretary and Managing Director of the Louisville Convention and Publicity League.

From all appearances Louisville is very much flattered and gratified that the National Association of Greenkeepers of America will visit them next February. "The greenkeepers will find," said Mr. Evans to Mr. Morley, "that Louisville is not the biggest town yet it is large enough to afford metropolitan service and amusements while still within easy reach of the open country. It is not the "richest" town, but there are few of its inhabitants who know poverty. In one respect it really stands alone—it is the "friendliest" town, and it is the happy privilege of all its inhabitants to send visitors home knowing that "Kentucky hospitality" is not merely a phrase, but is an established fact.

"Louisville has much to offer any national organization as a convention city," Mr. Evans continued. "Being located within eighty-two miles of the nation's center of population it can easily make good the boast that it is 'twenty-four hours from anywhere.' The city is served by nine trunk-line railroads; it is in direct connection with the electric systems to the North; perfect highways run through its gate-ways from every point of the compass.

"Just a few blocks from any of the hotels is the Jefferson County Armory, which is used by conventions for exhibition purposes. This is one of the very best exhibition halls in the United States. The great building has a floor space of 196 by 270 feet, which gives a square foot measurement of 53,000, all without obstruction of any kind. There is an unobstructed balcony space of 18,000 additional square feet. Electric current, either type, is available in any quantity and at a low rate. Gas lines may be run to any part of the building. There is water supply and drainage at every twenty feet over the main floor. This building is complete for display purposes."

Treating My Greens

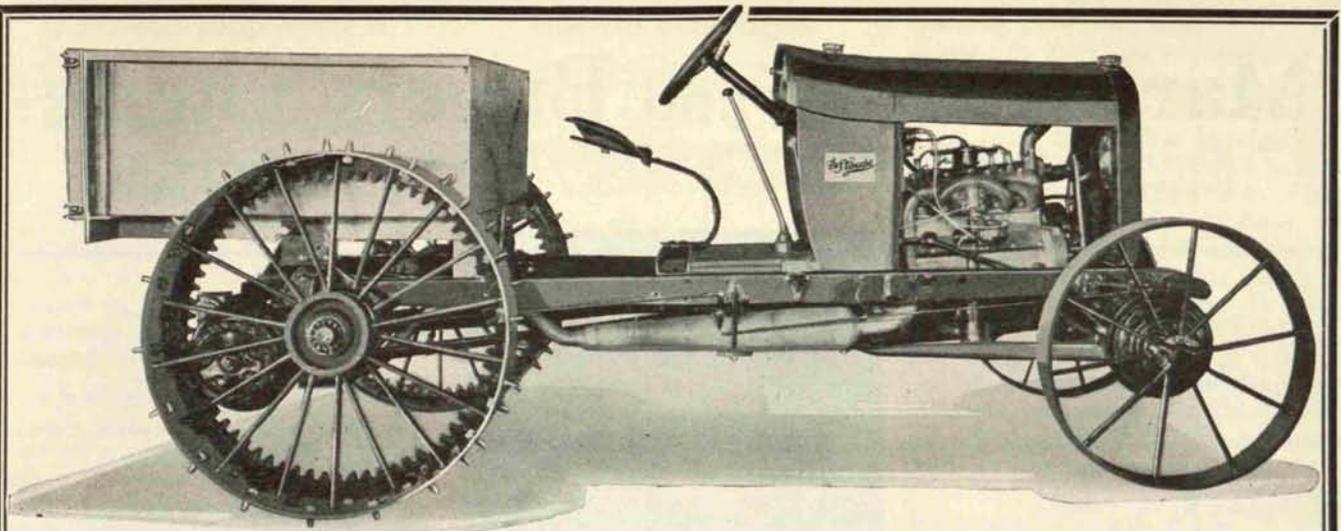

By JOHN MORLEY

"Last week I gave all our putting greens 50 pounds of hydrated lime, because this kind does not linger in the soil as long as agricultural lime. By the first of May when it is time to feed the soil nitrogen there will be very little of the hydrated lime left to disturb any fertilizer mostly composed of nitrogen.

"On two of my putting greens I have put on Gypsum—this is sulphate of lime, and it does not sweeten the soil like other lime, nor does it force clover, but does bring on a soil reaction.

"Last season I did not use any pulverized charcoal.

About the latter part of March I intend to give each putting green 200 pounds and to each green 50 pounds of steamed bone meal. Then when I topdress in May give each green 100 pounds of tobacco dust, eliminating all other fertilizers during the season, except sulphate of ammonia. If this with proper watering does not check disease then I must admit I don't know what will."

zation for their director of lectures to give. In choosing the director of lectures, local organizations should be careful to pick the very best man possible. It is not necessary that he be an inspirational speaker or a high-pressure salesman. It is essential that he be, in every sense of the word a real educator. The word education is derived from two words "duco," to draw, and "e," out, a process of drawing out of the individual what is in him—in other words, stimulate his thinking and reasoning powers.

The only way I can see for the greenkeeper to hold his own in the future, is by joining his local organization, and the National and carry out a program as has been sketched, with the motto "Unity is strength" floating on our banner.

Bent Grasses in Canada

the same height as Rhode Island bent which, to some extent, it also resembles habitually. It produces, however, a much smoother turf and is no doubt the finest of all the bent grasses for lawns and greens. "The Seeds Act, 1923," gives the name A. canina. It is not listed in "Standardized Plant Names."

Carpet bent is a bent grass occurring in so-called South German Mixed bent. It produces

"Creeping runners 3 or 5 feet long the first season, making circular mats 5 to 7 feet in diameter, and with relatively few flowering culms. It is by this stoloniferous character that carpet bent is most strikingly distinguished from Rhode Island bent, but the ligules are long and the flowering panicles rather dense."
