

Patrick Builds New Course

National Ass'n. of Greenkeepers,
Box A,
Rocky River, Ohio.
Gentlemen:

It may be some news to our monthly magazine to know that I am building my own golf course to be known as the St. Andrew's Golf Club on the Mississippi. It is an 18-hole layout of as pretty land as it has been my pleasure to look at during my 50 years around a golf course.

The back tees will give me a length of 6730 yds., the front tees 6455 yds., wide fairways, sand traps will open at the front to stop congestion, large greens and every feature I would imagine to keep the play moving.

There will be a membership fee of $24.00 a year which will entitle the member to all club privileges, shower, club-cleaning, locker, in fact everything they get at the private club, but he will have to pay green fees as he plays.

So far I have had a large number of inquiries for membership, and, of course, the paying public will play also.

If you would like any further information on the golf course will be glad to give it.

THE NATIONAL GREENKEEPER,
Caxton Bldg.,
Cleveland, Ohio.

I have recently purchased the Saugatuck Golf Course, so I presume you would like a short article to print in THE NATIONAL GREENKEEPER.

For a number of years I have made golf my business. Among the courses I have built and managed are West Shore Golf Links, Douglas, Mich.; Bridgman Golf Club, Bridgman, Mich.; North Park Community Golf Course, Coloma, Mich. I have managed the Painesville Country Club, Painesville, Ohio, and the past season completed the building of Willow Grove Golf Course, Solon, Ohio.

Being well known in southwestern Michigan, I have been called in an advisory capacity by numerous golf clubs. I will take personal charge of the Saugatuck Country Club and will develop it into one of the finest in Michigan.

Yours truly,
GEORGE B. FERRY.
