Product News

Perennial Ryegrass Variety Developed

Lofts Seed Inc. has introduced Palmer 111, a perennial ryegrass developed by Dr. Reed Funk of Rutgers' University in cooperation with Loft's researcher, Dr. Virginia Lehman.

The variety provides a dark green colour and medium-fine texture which makes it an ideal grass for sport field mixtures and blends. Palmer 111 is a persistent, durable grass that will tolerate an extremely low height of cut (ideal for field hockey!). It outcompetes Poa annua, has excellent wear tolerance, and it exhibits good disease resistance—particularly to Brown patch.

Loft's Seed has also introduced Prelude 111, a perennial ryegrass which performs well as a cool season grass. It too exhibits a dark green colour, tolerates low heights of cut, and has good wear tolerance. It is marketed for use as a straight variety or in blends such as Palmer 111/Prelude 111.
