Sure Thing #2:

THREE OF
A KIND BEATS
TWO PAIR.

BY RON HALL / EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

It's a matter of perspective

Winged into a sold-out red eye from Los Angeles to Cleveland, I thought back a couple of days earlier to a talk delivered by Terry Waite. Recalling his message gave me a stab of guilt for cursing the prospect of the long crowded flight.

Discomfort? This 3 1/2-hour flight is nothing compared to the ordeal that Waite suffered, I reminded myself.

Who's Waite, you ask?

To be honest, I had all forgotten about him. His name hasn't been in the news for a decade. So when I read his short bio prior to his talk at the recent distributors meeting for Hunter Industries, I was intrigued. What connection could there be between Waite, a former political hostage, and an irrigation product manufacturer.

It turns out there was a connection, although the folks at Hunter couldn't possibly have foreseen it when they arranged for Waite's appearance.

Waite, some of you may recall, gained the world's attention during the Beirut hostage crisis in 1987. As a special envoy to the Archbishop of Canterbury, he attempted to win the freedom of hostages there, but was seized himself and spent 1,763 days in captivity.

As I listened to Waite recount the events of his imprisonment (almost five years, most of it chained hand and foot to a wall in a dark room), I marveled at his inner strength, and the lack of self-pity or any hint of recrimination.

So, what is the connection of Waite's tale with Hunter Industries?

Less than three weeks prior to its distributors meeting (and Waite's presentation), an arsonist torched the company's main manufacturing building on its San Marcos campus. Fortunately, an employee discovered the fire while it could still be contained. Even so, smoke and water destroyed 80 offices and affected 30% of its manufacturing capacity.

We're ok; we'll be fine

Hunter employees immediately began a recovery effort. By the end of the first week, manufacturing had been relocated to other facilities. Week two saw more than 300 of the displaced workers back on their jobs at the plant, and by the time of the distributors meeting, the manufacturing plant was back to 80% capacity. The company didn't miss a single shipment.

"Never has a little extra inventory looked so good to us," Hunter CEO Richard Hunter even managed to joke. Indeed, the company's message to its many partners was, in effect, don't worry about us; we'll be just fine.

Instead of bemoaning the hardship caused by the arson, Hunter management talked confidently of recovery.

The company also reminded its 700 guests to weigh its significance in light of the wildfires that ravaged 750,000 acres in surrounding communities, destroying 3,500 homes and taking 22 lives that same week.

SEE WHAT YOU'RE MISSING.

PRESENTING THE GMC® TOPKICK.™

Take a look at the professional grade GMC TopKick. Engineered with a dramatically sloped hood and expansive windshield, it gives your drivers an impressive view of what lies ahead, like people and equipment. In fact, the GMC TopKick C4500/C5500 provides a forward field of vision as near as 13 feet from the front bumper. That's twice as close as the Ford F-450/F-550.* Smartly designed with large fold-in mirrors providing 126 square inches of surface area (including a 6" x 7" convex section), the GMC TopKick offers a remarkable view all around. Add to that one of the tightest turning diameters within class 4, and your drivers can safely maneuver around things like loading docks and garbage dumpsters. Not to mention the competition. For a closer look, visit gmc.com or call 1-800-GMC-8782.

*Based on comparison of 2004 GMC TopKick C4500/C5500 to 2004 Ford F-450/F-550. Excludes other GM® vehicles.

IMPROVE HEARING

My wife said I had a hearing problem. So I got the incredibly quiet four-stroke trimmer by Honda. A whole day of trimming and I can still hear as clear as a bell. My wife says my selective hearing's gotten worse, but I don't listen.

Honda four-stroke trimmers don't whine like most trimmers, they use unmixed gas, are incredibly fuel-efficient and virtually smoke-free. Plus this year, they have more power and weigh 16% less than our original 22cc model. You've gotta love the sound of that. For more information, call 800.426.7701 or visit www.honda.com.

Taking care of tomorrow's environment today.

PRIORITIZE PREVENTATIVE MAINTENANCE

When it comes to vehicle safety and dependability, too many motorists are putting off the simple preventative maintenance and repairs that can make the difference between being stranded along the side of the road or making it to their destination. Vehicle care, maintenance and repair are important steps in ensuring safety, improving dependability and avoiding costly repairs down the road.

To raise awareness about the benefits of performing regular vehicle maintenance, the Car Care Council has launched an education campaign called "Be Car Care Aware." This on-going campaign teaches motorists how to make sensible decisions about their vehicles.

To find out more information on how you can "Be Car Care Aware," visit www.carcare.org or call (240) 333-1088.

“
TalstarOne is so effective, even chinch
bugs are a cinch.

TalstarOne. Highly Effective. Where You Need It.

Once you apply TalstarOne™ multi-insecticide, you'll see what effective control was meant to be.

TalstarOne multi-insecticide is a true miticide, providing fast knockdown and long-lasting control of over 75 different pests, including chinch bugs, mole crickets, leaf-eating caterpillars, mites, mosquitoes and fire ants. It's water-based and contains no odorous or plant-damaging solvents. Plus, once it dries, it is virtually impossible to tell where it has been sprayed. That means no unsightly residues and no phytotoxicity.

So, apply the product that not only helps keep lawns green, but also turns competitors green with envy.

TalstarOne multi-insecticide. One tough flowable product for tough turf pests. For more information, contact our Customer Satisfaction Center at 1-800-321-1FMC, or visit: www.talstar-one.com.

TalstarOne multi-insecticide will replace Talstar® F insecticide/miticide. All existing inventory of Talstar F insecticide/miticide is still actively registered. To make sure TalstarOne multi-insecticide is registered in your state, check with state authorities or call 1-800-321-1FMC.
