TOOLS OF THE TRADE

Prune in comfort

Corona Clipper's two new Long-Reach Pruners are designed to make pruning faster, easier and safer. The TP 3206 (pictured) and TP 3212 feature a Dual Arc blade with 1.25-in. cutting capacity that "bites" into branches or stems then slices them for cutting precision. A 360-degree rotating head makes it possible for both models to cut branches and stems from almost any position. The TP 3206 is about 5 ft. long, while the TP 3212 telescopes from 7 ft. to 12 ft. In addition to all the features of the TP 3206, the TP 3212 features a handsaw accessory for removing larger limbs and a positive lock to eliminate pole slippage for a safer, more precise cut. ## On a roll

The handle on Fiskars' PowerGear Pruners (model 7941) rolls to follow a user's hand's natural clenching motion. The pruners reduce stress and fatigue and multiply cutting force, the manufacturer says. With a lifetime warranty and a cutting capacity of 3/4-in., the pruners' sharp, precision-ground blade edge is corrosion resistant, nonstick and replaceable. The product won the Arthritis Foundation's Ease-of-Use Commendation and is recommended for users who suffer from arthritis, rheumatism and carpal tunnel syndrome. ## ProLine

The new ProLineShovel enables users to dig small numbers of trees quickly, easily and safely to ball and burlap them or transplant them directly to another location on site. The shovel is shaped like one-third of a standard, hydraulic tree spade and allows the operator to make two or three thrusts around the base of the tree to extract a uniformly shaped rootball. The nose design prevents it from slipping off and around tree roots as happens with shovels having a more pointed nose. The shovel is available in full and mini-skid sizes.
