GREEN INDUSTRY SHOWCASE

Non-selective herbicide won't harm ornamentals

Finale is a new non-selective herbicide from Hoechst Roussel that kills weeds one to four days after application.

Finale controls annual and perennial weeds, grassy and broadleaf weeds, sedges and woody species.

As a post-emergent, uptake is entirely through treated green tissue. There is no uptake through roots, or tissue covered by mature woody bark. Finale is not active in the soil, and there is no residual effect on transplants.

The key action of Finale is the way it inhibits plant photosynthesis.

The active ingredient in Finale is glufosinate-ammonium. It was discovered as a metabolic compound of a soil-inhabiting bacterium, and closely resembles glutamic acid, which is a natural amino acid.

Finale degrades rapidly into natural compounds in any microbiologically active environment, soil or water, such as carbon dioxide, nitrogen and water, which actually nourish the soil.

Finale can be used in spot or broadcast applications. No agitation is necessary when using this product.

Drainage system is double-sided, water flows better

A new horizontal high-flow highway-edge drain system is being offered by Drainage Products, Inc. of Windsor Locks, Conn.

The system is composed of a double-sided, plastic cusped-core with channels that run horizontally and vertically instead of the conventional cusped configuration where the water flow is restricted.

The core is covered with a non-woven geotextile filter fabric which prevents the adjacent soil area from washing through, however, water permeation is unrestricted.

The drainage system requires only a narrow trench to be dug. This reduces the amount of earth to be removed, which can then be used as backfill.

The company says this multi-purpose vehicle is good for construction jobs, landscape management, farm recreation and industrial use.

With a maximum speed of 16 mph, the HM4209 features a 9 hp Briggs & Stratton engine, an electric starter and electronic ignition.

A heavy duty trans-axle with full differential allows for easy handling in rough terrain.

American Cyanamid says pendimethalin allows for season-long control of troublesome weeds, including goosegrass, with a single, properly-timed application.

Turfgrass shows tolerance to the product, even when applied at highest rates. Used as directed, pendimethalin offers a wide margin of tolerance on a variety of cool- and warm-season grasses.

The product is also labeled for many ornamentals.

Underwater aerator works well in shallower water

Toro's new Submersible Aerator addresses both aeration and mixing requirements in one package to enhance any aquatic setting.

A highly efficient pump draws air from an air hose above the water surface and injects it through a specially designed nozzle near the pond bottom.

The fine-bubble discharge thoroughly mixes the oxygen with the water, destratifies and provides horizontal water circulation with no additional components or accessories.

The aerator limits growth of pond algae, and stimulates decomposition of organic wastes and runoff nutrients.

The aerator operates in water as shallow as two feet.

Standard systems are available in 0.5, 1.0, 2.0 and 3.0 hp models, single or three phase, 115, 230 or 460 volts.

Utility vehicle combines balance, comfort, power

Jacobsen's new SV System Vehicle work trucks feature an engine-forward design, 2,800 lb. load capacity and the combination of four-wheel stability and three-wheel maneuverability.

The SV-2322 is powered by a fuel-efficient 23 hp diesel engine.

The SV-3422 has a 34-hp gasoline engine. Each provides the power needed for spreading, spraying, topdressing or even towing a 5-gang mower attachment.

The engine-forward design offers three advantages, according to Jacobsen: better vehicle balance, more operator comfort and easier maintenance.

Four-wheel drive adds stability. Turning diameter at the rear wheels is less than 3-feet.

Both models have eight forward speeds and reverse. Hydraulic attachments are available.

Look for this new line of potassium nitrate fertilizers

Vicksburg Chemical Company makes available its K-Power line of potassium nitrate fertilizers during the 1994 GCSAA show in Dallas.

The K-Power line includes four varieties of potassium nitrate fertilizers: Greens & Tees; Fairways—with the MultiCote controlled release system; a Combination formula; and Water Soluble, with selected micro-elements in a dry, crystalline form.

The MultiCote is a polymer coating designed to feed turf a steady and continuous supply of nutrients.

The company calls this the first controlled-released potassium.

Michael Larisey, market development manager, says the product's balance of potassium to nitrogen offers turf growers several benefits, including stronger turf that is better able to resist fungus, insects and heat stress.

According to Larisey, the K-Power products can lessen the occurrence of leaf spot, fungal leaf spot, dollar spot, spring dollar spot and gaumnannomyces graminis.

Spray tips reduce drift, give optimum turf coverage

New, Mark II Lo-Drift spray tips by Lurmark, Ltd. offer an innovative, engineered spray droplet spectrum that significantly reduces drift. At the same time, the tips allows for optimum spray coverage of systemic and contact herbicides.

The tips fit all existing bodies and caps, and are suitable for spraying foliar and soil-applied herbicides.

The pre-orifice alters the range of droplet sizes in a way that can't be achieved by standard flat spray tips and extended performance tips, regardless of spraying pressure.

According to the company, virtually all spray droplets of less than 100 microns are eliminated, without affecting the sizes of the remaining droplets.

Sprinkler riser lets you raise heads without excavating

Olson Irrigation Systems markets the TSR-1, a threaded sprinkler riser that allows superintendents to turn sprinkler heads without excavating the entire swing arm assembly.

The TSR-1 fits between the swing elbow and the sprinkler head. When the sprinkler is rotated, the head is elevated or lowered by up to 3-inches.

The riser's threads are sealed so repeated adjustment is no problem, and the TSR-1 holds its setting.

The unit works with all 1-inch rotors, and with 3/4-inch heads, using a reducer bushing.
